

Elliott Isaac is an Assistant Professor of Economics at Tulane University. His fields of interest are public and labor economics, with a focus on the treatment of the family in tax and transfer systems, marriage and divorce decisions, and labor supply. He earned his BA in Economics from Wake Forest University and his MA and PhD in Economics from the University of Virginia.